PAINTINGS & ARTWORKS

- 522 Theatre Design: Collection of original works and related material by Kenneth Rowell. Comprises 10 pencil, ink & watercolour drawings on paper (2 signed and dated "1950") of theatre costumes and prop designs [28x18cm; 28x14cm; 19x16cm; 28x18cm; 30x23cm; 28x18cm; 19x16cm; 28x14cm; 28x18cm; 14x14cm (round); 19x13cm(oval)], some light spotting. Also a coloured etching, 32x36cm with an original ink drawing on the reverse (some creasing to edges). Includes programme for a production by the The National Theatre Ballet Company [Melbourne, 1949] decorated with works by the artist and 3 postcards advertising a 1998 retrospective exhibition.
Kenneth Rowell (1920-1999) was a renowned Australian theatre designer and artist who worked extensively both in Australia and overseas. He designed John Gielgud's Macbeth at Stratford-on-Avon and Hamlet, presented at the Old Vic Theatre, London. He also designed a large number of operas, plays and ballets for many prestigious companies including the Royal Ballet (UK); Royal Danish Ballet and Norwegian State Ballet internationally, and The Australian Ballet and Opera Australia, locally. Also a painter, he is represented in public and private collections in England, U.S.A. and Australia, including The National Library. He was awarded an AM for service to the performing arts, particularly stage and costume design.
An attractive and important group of Australian performing arts history. (15 items) (Photo)$2000 - $2500

PHOTOGRAPHS

- 523 c1897-99 Glass plate negatives of Footscray (5); c1896-1928 photographs (104) including Sorrento, Beenak, Mordialloc, Adelaide & England; also books (2) including "Introducing Victoria" by Leeper [Melbourne, 1955] & Indian etched brass container. (112 items)..... $150 - $250
- 524 Sample board of fused enamel miniature photographic portraits, probably used as a sales/promotional tool. Maker unknown, European c.1910. Presented in original morocco box, silk lined [29x20cm]. The 24 miniature portraits, which range in shape, colour and size are attractively arranged on a velour covered board [26.5x18cm], with decorative blind stamped cloth to reverse. Produced by the ceramic tissue method of firing photographs onto vitreous surfaces, the images display a beautiful continuous tonal range and exceptionally fine resolution. A remarkable & highly attractive item. Minor damage to two of the portraits, some insect damage to box. (Photo) $1000 - $1500
